

Viadrina Sustainability and Corporate Accountability Research Symposium

As legal efforts to hold companies accountable for human rights abuses in global value chains face political backlash, it is time to take stock. This workshop brings together scholars from various legal disciplines to critically examine supply chain and modern slavery governance. We ask what narratives drive regulation, if and how workers engage with it, and what role accountability mechanisms can play in ensuring access to justice.

The workshop is organised by the Center for Interdisciplinary Labour Law Studies (C*LLAS) at the European University Viadrina.

The full program is available here and can be accessed by scanning the QR code.

Global Supply Chain and Modern Slavery Governance – Narratives, Regulatory Practices, and Accountability

Wednesday, 14 May 10 AM – 5 PM
@ Viadrina (GD 205)
Europaplatz 1,
15230 Frankfurt (Oder)

Speakers

Prof Judy Fudge
McMaster University

Prof Ulla Gläßer
Prof Markus Beham
Dominik Schmitz
Mareike Standow
European University Viadrina

Shuvra Dey
Marie-Sophie Keller
Friedrich-Alexander University
Erlangen-Nürnberg

Moderation

Prof Eva Kocher
European University Viadrina